

Workshops Scheduled for Cohousing at Union Corners

Learn the facts, meet the neighbors, then roll-up your sleeves!

(Madison, WI) Cohousing workshops will be held on Thursday evening, October 16th at the Goodman Community Center, 149 Waubesa Street, Madison, WI 53704, from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m. and Saturday morning, October 18th at Bashford Church, 329 North Street, Madison, WI 53704, from 10:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. These three-hour intensive workshops will introduce the concept of cohousing and prepare future neighbors for the challenge of creating two complementary “Sister” cohousing communities at Union Corners. Cohousing at Union Corners is attracting potential homebuyers to this intentionally-welcoming site on the near East Side of Madison.

Madison East Side Co-Housing (MESCoH) is planning the Sister #1 building, a three-story, multi-family cohousing community featuring studio, one, two and three bedroom condo-style units. Time has now come to gear up for Sister #2, which is envisioned as a mix of townhouse and apartment-type units. Both projects will include a variety of privately-owned units and commonly-owned amenities.

Discussions about multi-generational and senior-friendly units; affordability; pets; and types of common areas will help you and your future neighbors find the best fit for your unique needs and preferences. This is an opportunity to consider making a vibrant, intentionally-welcoming East Side cohousing community your home.

Join us! Thursday October 16th, 6:00 pm at the Goodman Community Center or Saturday October 18th, 10:00 am at Bashford Church. $10 workshop fee. Light refreshments will be served.
